FORMULATION AND FACILITY TRAINING FOR POs AND COs

St. Aloysius Degree College hosted an Orientation on Outcome-Based Education (OBE), facilitated by the Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC). The session aimed to equip Program Outcomes (POs) and Course Outcomes (COs) with the necessary knowledge and skills to implement OBE effectively. Mrs. Zeena Lobo, the IQAC coordinator, served as the resource person for the event. Throughout the orientation, Mrs. Zeena Lobo elucidated the methodologies of OBE, emphasizing its significance in contemporary educational practices. The orientation proved instrumental in empowering POs and COs to integrate OBE methodologies into their respective roles effectively. It not only enhanced their understanding of OBE but also equipped staff with the necessary tools to contribute positively to the college's educational objectives.

COMMUNICATING THE OUTCOMES TO STUDENTS

St. Aloysius Degree College ensures students are familiarized with Program Outcomes and Course Outcomes (COs) during induction and introductory classes each semester. Additionally, learning outcomes are prominently displayed in classrooms and department notice boards. This proactive communication strategy enhances student awareness of key academic support personnel and reinforces the importance of learning objectives throughout their academic journey. St. Aloysius Degree College's commitment to transparent communication and student engagement cultivates an environment conducive to academic success and holistic development.

PO's, and CO's displayed on Noticeboards

COs and POs are also available on the college website. The webpage has the results of the achievement measurement that was completed for the graduating students of the 2022 UG and PG batches.
